

Contents

Dialogical Self Theory in Education: An Introduction	1
Frans Meijers and Hubert Hermans
Being, Doing, and Becoming: Fostering Possibilities for Agentive Dialogue	19
Jennifer Clifton and Bob Fecho
Dialogue, Inquiry, Changing Roles, and the Dialogical Self	35
Trevor Thomas Stewart
Engaging Children in Dialogic Classroom Talk: Does It Contribute to a Dialogical Self?	49
Chiel van der Veen, Marjolein Dobber and Bert van Oers
The Experience of the Other and the Premise of the Care for Self. Intercultural Education as Umwendung	65
Barbara Schellhammer
Writing the Self for Reconciliation and Global Citizenship: The Inner Dialogue and Creative Voices for Cultural Healing	81
Reinekke Lengelle, Charity Jardine and Charlene Bonnar
Dialogue for Bridging Student Teachers' Personal and Professional Identity	97
Äli Leijen, Katrin Kullasepp and Aivi Toompalu
Teacher Identity as a Dialogical Construction	111
Rudy Vandamme
Afrikaner and Coloured School-Going Adolescents Negotiating Ethnic Identities in a Post-Colonial South African Educational Context: A Dialogical Self Interpretation	129
Charl Alberts

Dialogical Selves and Intersectional Masculinities: Image-and-Interview Research with South African Adolescents	143
David Blackbeard
Dialogical Self and Struggling Reader Identity	157
Dawan Coombs
Use of My Career Chapter to Engage Students in Reflexive Dialogue	173
Michael Healy, Peter McIlveen and Sara Hammer
A Dialogical Approach for Learning Communities Between Positioning and Reformulation	189
Susanna Annese and Marta Traetta
Index	211