

---

Contents

---

Acknowledgements	xi
Foreword by Ann Horne and Monica Lanyado	xii
Preface	xiv
Introduction	1
PART I
Mapping the territory	5
1 The therapeutic process	7
2 Creating a therapeutic setting	23
3 Making an assessment and starting the work	25
4 Approaches to child psychotherapy with children of different ages	38
5 Reflections on brief psychotherapy	71
6 Engaging with parents	76
7 Pleasures and challenges of working in a team	91
PART 2
Hard times: the challenges of child psychotherapy	101
8 Facing despair, doubt and anger – and finding hope	103

9	Learning from mistakes, losing my way and the value of supervision	112
10	Working towards an ending	121
PART 3
Therapeutic work with children and parents in crisis		131
11	Behind closed doors: therapeutic work with children and adolescents living with mentally ill and vulnerable parents	133
12	Therapeutic work with children whose parents have separated or divorced	150
PART 4
Taking child psychotherapy outside the psychotherapy room		161
13	New pathways: applying psychotherapy to other settings	163
	Final thoughts: playing with ideas	180
	Index	181