

CONTENTS

1	Introduction	1
2	Professional Context and Regulatory Background: “Fat Cats” and Frustrated “Consumers”	7
3	The LSO, Market Forces and the Challenge to Professional Self-Regulation in the 1980s	15
4	The LSO in Practice 1991–1997: Democratic Accountability and the “Creaking System”	29
5	The LSO in Practice 1998–2002: Consumer Dispute Resolution and “The Regulatory Maze”	53
6	The LSO in Practice 2003–2010: “Putting Consumers First”	71
7	Conclusion: The Ombuds as “Third Way”	91
	Bibliography	105
	Index	113