
Contents

List of illustrations	vii
Preface and acknowledgements	viii
Contributors	x
Introduction: Unfolding a victimological imagination of genocide YARIN ESKI	1
1 An existentialist victimology of genocide? YARIN ESKI	6
2 Victimology and genocide: Neglected stories? SANDRA WALKLATE	23
3 Durkheim's moral individualism and international criminal justice: A critical appraisal of humanity's savages, victims, and saviours KJERSTI LOHNE	38
4 The Rohingya crisis: Accountability for decades of persecution MELANIE O'BRIEN	51
5 LGBT+ Genocide: Understanding hetero-nationalism and the politics of psychological silence HEATHER PANTER	69
6 Symbiotic victimisation and destruction: Law and human/other-than-human relationality in genocide ANDREW WOOLFORD AND WANDA HOUNSLOW	86
7 On 'visualising the truth of genocide': Reflections on whakapapa and finding southern epistemology, occasioned by a tattered album from the nomos of the Holocaust WAYNE MORRISON	102

vi Contents

8	'Playing Srebrenica': Theatre plays in the Netherlands regarding Srebrenica MARTIN HOONDERT	138
9	The role of past victimisation in genocidal mythologies: Bosnian and Rwandan experiences JASNA BALORDA	151
10	Genocide and forced migration: The dual victimisation of refugees escaping war and genocide ALEŠ BUČAR RUČMAN	169
11	Fortress Britain or migratory haven? Genocide survivors' experiences of migration to the United Kingdom LINDA ASQUITH	189
	Conclusion: A victimological imagination of genocide YARIN ESKI AND SANDRA WALKLATE	202
	Index	211