

---

Contents

Introduction

How to Explain and Fight Organizational Crime . . . . . 3

Markus Pohlmann, Subrata K. Mitra, Gerhard Dannecker,
Dieter Dölling, Dieter Hermann, Kristina Höly and
Maria Eugenia Trombini

How to Analyze Organizational Crime – Theory, Concepts, and Methods . . . . . 19

Markus Pohlmann

Corporate Crime, Manipulation, and Compliance: The Case of Germany a) The Corporate Sector

The Development of the German Criminal Regulations Against Corruption in the Public Sector. . . . . 65

Dieter Dölling

The Development of German Criminal Law Against Corruption in the Private Sector . . . . . 93

Gerhard Dannecker

German Corruption Cases Reflected in Criminal Files—Individual or Organizational Deviance? . . . . . 123

Dieter Dölling and Ludmila Hustus

Compliance, Integrity, and Prevention in the Corporate Sector: The Collective Mindsets of Compliance Officers in Germany . . . . .	133
Markus Pohlmann and Sebastian Starystach
Limits of Formal Regulation: How Informal Norms and Criminogenic Values Affect Managers' Readiness to Corrupt . . . . .	165
Dieter Hermann, Markus Pohlmann and Julian Klinkhammer
Experimental Corruption Research in Germany: The Lab Studies . . . .	191
Alexander Fürstenberg
Corporate Crime, Manipulation, and Compliance:
The Case of Germany
b) The Medical Sector
The German Organ Transplant Scandal: An Analysis of Court Records and Official Documents from the Medical Association. . . . .	207
Markus Pohlmann and Kristina Höly
The German Organ Transplant Scandal: The Collective Mindsets of Physicians . . . . .	231
Markus Pohlmann and Kristina Höly
Decision-Making Processes of Physicians After the Organ Donation Scandal in Germany: The Factorial Survey . . . . .	251
Dieter Hermann, Gerhard Dannecker and Markus Pohlmann
Corruption, the FCPA, and Compliance Regulations in the U.S.
In Search of Organizational Crime in the U.S.: the FCPA Court Records . . . . .	281
Alexander Fürstenberg and Julian Klinkhammer
Compliance, Integrity, and Prevention in the Corporate Sector: The Collective Mindsets of Compliance Officers in the USA . . . . .	319
Markus Pohlmann and Sebastian Starystach
Systemic Corruption in Brazil
Formal Rules and Institutional Increments in Brazil . . . . .	361
Mário H. Jorge Jr

---

Organizational Crime in Brazil: The Petrobras Case . . . . .	377
Elizângela Valarini
The Anti-Corruption Mindset of Brazilian Law Enforcers . . . . .	403
Maria Eugenia Trombini and Elizângela Valarini
Corruption in China
New Laws and Law Enforcement to Fight Against Bribery in China . . . . .	423
Yuan Yuan Liu
Detected Cases of Bribery in China: The Analysis of Court Records. . . . . .	431
Yuan Yuan Liu
Epilogue - Coping with Organizational Crime
Companies as Responsible Actors and Corporate Citizens—Corporate Criminal Responsibility Under the Rule of Law as a Consequence. . . . . .	445
Gerhard Dannecker and Thomas Schröder
The Puzzling Resilience of Organizational Wrongdoing: Some Policy Implications for a Global Regulation Regime . . . . .	473
Subrata K. Mitra	