

Contents

Foreword by Lord Dyson, Master of the Rolls	v
Introduction	1
Part I: Public Law: Judicial and Judicious Review
1 The Scope of Judicial Review and the Rule of Law: Between Judicial Restraint and Judicial Creativity	9
2 Judicial Review: its Genesis and Growth Post-1977	35
3 Judges in Public Inquiries, Redivivus	38
4 The Road to Rome and Strasbourg via San Francisco: the Genesis of Human Rights	49
5 Towards a Legal Forum of the Isles	60
Part II: Crime and Justice
6 A Calendar of Murder: the Causes of Unjustifiable Homicide	70
7 Towards a New Homicide Act	71
8 The Penalty for Murder: Life after Death	92
9 The Apotheosis of Amateurism	116
10 English Juries on Trial	136
11 The Ambit of Innocence	139
12 'Consuming Your Own Smoke'	146
13 Crime and Justice: a Shift in Perspective	150
14 The Magistracy – a Professional Court?	169
15 Serious Fraud Offences: Whither Their Trial?	175
16 James Hanratty: a Vindictory View	187
17 An Advocate's Tale	194
18 Criminal Justice on Trial	207
19 Victims Adrift	213
Part III: Penal Affairs
20 The Whys and Wherefores of Penal Policy	221
21 Community Service: Penological Progress	228

viii Contents

22	Prisoners' Right to Vote	231
23	Dangerousness	236
Part IV: Media Law
24	Press (Media) Freedom: Constitutional Right or Cultural Assumption?	247
25	The Jurisprudence of Privacy	260
26	Media Freedom: a New Concept in Free Speech	276
27	Censors in the Courtroom	278
28	The Historical Background to Self-Regulation of the Press	289
Part V: Miscellany
29	Jan Christiaan Smuts (1870–1950): Middle Templar Extraordinary	299
30	Intervention and Amicus Curiae	312
31	Bench and Bar	320
32	Judicial Heroes	330
33	Lord Denning's Legacy: a Judicial Misfit?	334
34	Pilgrims' Progress: Academics and Practitioners	347
	Index	359