

Contents

Acknowledgments	page ix
Table of cases	xi
1 Introduction	1
a. International humanitarian law	3
b. Relevant judicial bodies	7
c. Judicial development	10
2 Judicial decisions in international law	21
a. A subsidiary source of international law	22
i. Precedent	25
b. The judicial function in international law	38
i. Gap-filling and law creation	42
ii. The progressive development of humanitarian law	54
c. The role of customary international law	67
3 Key categories: armed conflicts and protected persons	82
a. Armed conflict	83
i. International armed conflict	84
ii. Military occupation	96
iii. Non-international armed conflict	103
b. Protected persons	114
i. Civilians	115
ii. Prisoners of war	126
iii. Child soldiers	134

4	Basic principles and fundamental guarantees	139
a.	Basic principles	140
i.	Distinction	141
ii.	Military necessity	145
iii.	Proportionality	150
iv.	Unnecessary suffering and humanity	153
b.	Fundamental guarantees	163
i.	Common Article 3	163
ii.	Sexual violence	176
5	Means and methods of warfare	185
a.	Weapons	187
i.	Nuclear weapons	188
ii.	Other weapons	199
b.	Methods of warfare	204
c.	Non-international armed conflicts	216
6	Enforcement	223
a.	Judicial enforcement of international humanitarian law	224
b.	Responsibility	237
c.	Reparations	248
d.	Reciprocity and reprisals	255
7	Prosecution of war crimes	265
a.	The international law of war crimes	266
i.	Nuremberg and Tokyo	268
ii.	Grave breaches of the 1949 Geneva Conventions	274
iii.	Non-international armed conflicts	279
iv.	Nullum crimen sine lege at the tribunals	286
b.	Responsibility of superiors and military commanders	292
c.	Superior orders	302
d.	Amnesty	306
8	Conclusion	314
a.	Revisiting judicial decisions as a subsidiary source	315
b.	Legitimacy and challenges	321
	Bibliography	335
	Index	352