

Contents

Acknowledgements	page	xiv
Note on maps and measurements		xvi
List of abbreviations		xvii
Introduction		1
1 Territory		10
1 Hans Island		10
2 Svalbard		16
3 Greenland		22
4 Sverdrup Islands		24
5 Summary		26
2 Maritime boundaries		28
1 1973 Canada–Denmark Boundary Treaty		29
2 1990 Bering Sea Treaty		32
3 Maritime boundaries around Jan Mayen		36
4 2006 Greenland–Svalbard Boundary Treaty		38
5 2010 Barents Sea Boundary Treaty		39
6 Lincoln Sea boundary		46
7 Summary		55
3 Beaufort Sea boundary		56
1 Background		57
2 Resolution efforts		62
3 Canada’s legal position		63
4 United States’ legal position		67
5 Law of maritime boundary delimitation within 200 nautical miles		68

6	Law of maritime boundary delimitation beyond 200 nautical miles	71
7	Potential negotiating positions	74
7.1	Unilateral recognition of the other state's position	74
7.2	Coastal length	75
7.3	Relevance of islands	78
7.4	Concavity of the coastline	78
7.5	Canada's position beyond the EEZ	79
7.6	Inuvialuit Final Agreement: a complicating factor	80
7.7	United States' position beyond the EEZ	82
8	Options for United States–Canada cooperation	83
8.1	Canada makes a preliminary or partial submission to the Commission on the Limits of the Continental Shelf	84
8.2	United States sends a “no objection statement” to the Commission on the Limits of the Continental Shelf	85
8.3	Canada and United States maximize combined EEZ rights with a “special area”	85
8.4	Multifunctional delimitation	86
8.5	Provision of economic access rights	87
8.6	Joint development arrangement	88
9	Russia–Canada maritime boundary in the Beaufort Sea?	90
10	Summary	90
4	Extended continental shelves	92
1	Continental shelf regime	93
2	Seafloor highs	96
2.1	Oceanic ridges	97
2.2	Submarine ridges and submarine elevations	99
3	Geomorphological and geological characteristics of the central Arctic Ocean	104
3.1	Lomonosov Ridge	105
3.2	Alpha/Mendeleev Ridge	106
3.3	Submissions, responses, and diplomacy	107
4	Options for submissions to the Commission on the Limits of the Continental Shelf	109
4.1	Full submission without coordination with other states	110
4.2	Exclude any disputed or potentially disputed area from the submission	111

4.3	Agree not to object to the Commission on the Limits of the Continental Shelf considering data	111
4.4	Coordinated submissions	112
4.5	Joint submission	112
5	Negotiating temporary lines or permanent boundaries before submitting	114
5.1	Negotiate temporary lines in advance of Commission on the Limits of the Continental Shelf submissions	114
5.2	Negotiate permanent boundaries in advance of Commission on the Limits of the Continental Shelf submissions	115
6	Options for maritime boundary delimitation	117
6.1	Delimitation of seafloor highs	118
6.2	Delimiting ridges with sector or distance formulae	119
6.3	Canada-Denmark boundary along the Lomonosov Ridge	120
6.4	Third-party dispute resolution	122
7	Non-Arctic states and Arctic continental shelves	125
8	Summary	126
5	Arctic Straits	128
1	Northwest Passage	131
1.1	Voyage of the SS Manhattan	134
1.2	Voyage of the USCGC Polar Sea	136
1.3	European Union and China	137
1.4	1988 Arctic Cooperation Agreement	139
1.5	Concerns about a precedent	141
2	Northern Sea Route	143
2.1	Vil'Kitskii incidents	145
2.2	Opening of the Northern Sea Route	146
3	Assessment of Canada's and Russia's legal positions	148
4	Canada-Russia cooperation	150
5	Canada-United States cooperation	154
6	Bering Strait	157
7	Unimak Pass	159
8	Nares Strait	161
9	Multilateral mechanisms available to "strait states"	163
10	Submarine voyages	167
11	Summary	169

6	Environmental protection	171
1	Species protection	171
1.1	Northern fur seals	171
1.2	Polar bears	172
1.3	Whales	176
2	Fisheries	178
2.1	Bering Sea “donut hole”	178
2.2	Arctic Ocean Fisheries Organization	179
3	Shipping	185
3.1	Ship safety	185
3.2	Ballast water	188
4	Nuclear accidents	189
5	Deep-sea mining	191
6	Air-borne pollution	194
6.1	Persistent organic pollutants	194
6.2	Arctic haze	195
6.3	Black carbon	197
7	Oil spills	200
7.1	United States	200
7.2	Canada	201
7.3	Norway	204
7.4	Greenland	205
7.5	Russia	207
7.6	Liability for oil spills	209
7.7	Agreement on oil spill preparedness and response	212
8	Ecosystem-based management	213
9	Summary	215
7	Indigenous peoples	216
1	Political participation and self-determination	218
2	Indigenous rights and state claims	222
3	Indigenous transnationalism and international law-making	225
4	Circumpolar Inuit Declaration on Sovereignty	230
5	Does sovereignty “begin at home”?	234
6	Seal product exports	236
7	Indigenous peoples and human rights	238
8	Indigenous peoples and whaling	240
9	Indigenous peoples and nuclear weapons	243
10	Summary	244

8	Security	245
1	De-escalating the Pole	248
2	China	254
3	Arctic nuclear-weapon-free zones	256
4	Non-state actors	261
4.1	Drug-smuggling	262
4.2	Illegal immigration	263
4.3	Trafficking of weapons of mass destruction	265
4.4	Terrorist attacks on aircraft	267
4.5	Protests against oil and gas infrastructure	268
5	Search and rescue	269
6	Summary	279
	Conclusion	280
	Bibliography	284
	Index	297