

Contents

Acknowledgments	ix
Introduction	1
Methods	4
Investment rules	6
Countermovement?	7
Resistance	11
The 'new constitutionalism'	15
What is to come	17
1 Hardt and Negri and the Immobilization of States	24
Empire's immobilized subjects	26
Legitimacy problems	34
Immobilized states?	40
2 Teubner and System Liberation	52
Systems emancipated	54
Systemic effects	59
3 Habermas and Global Power Policy	71
Global mindset	73
Global pretension	80
Global failure	86
4 Santos and the Difficulty of Sustainable Resistance	91
The decomposing state	93
Transnational legal fixity	96
Transnational momentum	103
5 Wolin and Democracy's Debasement	113
Dispiriting democracy	116
No voice, costly exit?	119
A constitutional revolution	127
Unjustifiable solicitude	130
6 Foucault, Ecuador and on Being 'Freer Than They Feel'	136
Thinking differently	140
Acting differently	146
The sparse field of available possibilities	156

Conclusion: Resistance's Prospects	159
Cases Cited	167
Bibliography	170
Index	201