

Contents

1	Limitation of Sovereignty by European Integration: The German Experience in a Comparative View . . . . .	1
	Rainer Arnold
2	European Integration and Limitation of the Power of Constitutional Reform . . . . .	15
	Francisco Balaguer Callejón
3	National and Constitutional Identity as a Legal and Political Instrument . . . . .	27
	Luca Mezzetti
4	National Identity and Market Freedoms After the Treaty of Lisbon . . . . .	51
	Sinisa Rodin
5	The European Union in the Constitutional Framework of Member States: The Italian Case . . . . .	87
	Diana-Urania Galetta
6	Limitation of Sovereignty by the European Integration – The Polish Approach . . . . .	99
	Bogusław Banaszak
7	The Transfer of Sovereignty in the Case Law of the Hungarian Constitutional Court . . . . .	109
	Péter Kovács
8	An ‘Entirely-Specific’ Situation or a Routine Limitation of the National Autonomy? Slovak pensions XVII of the Czech Constitutional Court . . . . .	125
	Jiří Zemánek	