

Contents

Table of Cases	xiii
Table of Legislation, Statutory Instruments, and International Treaties and Conventions	xvii
1 Introduction	1
The Purpose of this Book	1
The Arguments Advanced	4
Human Rights	6
Structure and Sources	7
Point of View	10
Readership	12
2 Historical Overview	13
The Rights Brought Home	13
Natural Rights to the Eighteenth Century	16
Declarations and the Recognition of Rights	22
Human Rights	24
The Rights of Mankind and other Terms	25
3 Liberty and Equality	31
The Declarations	31
Introduction	32
Status, Public Office, and Suffrage	35
Gender	42
Wealth	45
The Common Good	45
The Human Rights Act 1998 Sch 1	47
4 The Rule of Law	49
The Declarations	49
Human Rights and the Rule of Law	50
The Constitutional Reform Act 2005	55
Legality (Supremacy of the Law)	56
Legal Certainty	58
Prohibition of Arbitrariness	60
The Human Rights Act 1998 Sch 1	62
5 Access to Justice	63
The Declarations	63
Independent and Impartial Courts	63
Justice before a Court	66

Independent and Impartial Courts and Separation of Powers	67
Trial by Jury	70
Presumption of Innocence	72
Prosecution and Defence Counsel	74
Rights of the Defendant	74
The Human Rights Act 1998 Sch 1	76
6 Right of Resistance	77
The Declarations	77
The Right of Resistance	77
Resistance and Access to Justice	83
The Human Rights Act 1998 Sch 1	84
7 Life, Security, Detention, Torture, Liberty, and Villeinage	85
The Declarations	85
Life and Security	85
Detention	90
Torture	93
Reputation	98
Villeinage	99
The Human Rights Act 1998 Sch 1	100
8 Property, Taxation, Elections, Work, and Slavery	101
The Declarations	101
Property and Natural Law	101
Property, Taxation, and Representation at Elections	102
Property and Compulsory Purchase	108
Right to Work and Restraint of Trade	110
Slavery	111
The Human Rights Act 1998 Sch 1	114
9 Freedom of Expression	115
The Declarations	115
Meaning of Free Speech	115
English Law to 1791	117
US Law	124
French Proposals 1791	126
Freedom of Speech in England since 1791	126
The Human Rights Act 1998 Sch 1	129
10 Private and Family Life, Home and Correspondence	131
The Declarations	131
What is Privacy?	132
The Home and other Property	133
Free Speech	137
Self-incrimination	138
Family Relationships	140

Photographs	141
Privacy and Morality	142
Developments since 1791	143
The Human Rights Act 1998 Sch 1	145
11 Conscience, Religion, Association, Assembly, Petition, and Duties	147
The Declarations	147
Conscience and Religion	148
Rights of Assembly, Association, and Petition	152
Duties	154
The Human Rights Act 1998 Sch 1	156
12 Sovereignty and Revolution	159
The Declarations	159
1688–9, 1776, and 1789–92	159
American Declarations	160
Condorcet	160
The Bill of Rights	162
Hume and Blackstone	164
Early English Precedents	166
Sovereignty in the UK Today	168
The Human Rights Act 1998 Sch 1	172
13 Functions of Rights	173
The Declarations	173
Natural Rights and Human Rights	173
Parliament and Rights	174
Judges and Rights	176
The Public’s Use of Rights	178
Social and Economic Rights	180
Relationships between States	181
Summary	184
14 Limits to Legislation	187
The Declarations	187
Hierarchies of Legislation	187
US Law on Judicial Review of Legislation	188
English Law on Judicial Review of Legislation	191
The Interpretation of Legislation	194
Parliament and Human Rights	196
The Human Rights Act 1998 Sch 1	197
15 The Future of British Rights	199
The Common Law and the HRA	199
The Judiciary, Parliament, and the Executive	203
Criticisms of the HRA	206
Consent of the People	208

Appendix I—Natural Rights, Human Dignity, Duties, and Deserts	211
Natural Rights and the Principle of Necessity	211
Natural Rights, Reason, Self-evident Truths, and the Pursuit of Happiness	212
Inalienable Rights	214
Human Dignity	214
Duties and Deserts	216
Appendix II—Virginia and French Declarations	219
Virginia Declaration of Rights	219
French Declaration	221
Bibliography	225
Index	235